

Teoma Systems Strategic Business Partner Named “Best SAN”

Troy based Teoma Systems' strategic business partner, Compellent Technologies' storage area network (SAN) was named “Best SAN” as part of the InfoWorld 2008 Technology of the Year Awards. Having also won in 2006, Compellent is the first enterprise storage provider to earn the “Best SAN” distinction in consecutive years (Editor's note: InfoWorld did not designate a Best SAN award in 2007).

IDG's InfoWorld, the leading integrated media brand for IT decision makers, recognized 45 products across nine general categories in its 2008 Technology of the Year honors. Selected by InfoWorld Test Center editors and reviewers, the annual awards identify the best and most innovative products on the IT landscape. According to InfoWorld, “The Compellent Storage Center is the best SAN we've tested, with the broadest feature set and the greatest ease of use...Compellent's level of maturity, both in feature set and ease of use, places it alone at the pinnacle of midrange systems and even compares favorably with top-tier systems.” The SAN received a perfect score of ten for manageability when reviewed by InfoWorld, supported by first-rate marks for its automated tiered storage, scalability and Copilot support program.

“From the start, our product has been infused with feedback from end-users and channel partners, resulting in a technology that meets constantly changing storage needs,” explained Phil Soran, president and CEO, Compellent. “Companies continue to seek out SAN systems that allow them to cut storage, power and cooling costs to make their data centers greener and easier to manage with existing resources. We're thrilled to share this honor with our loyal customer base and dedicated business partners.”

“Our approach has always been to offer ‘best in class’ solutions to meet our customer's business needs,” said Mike Quarton, CEO of Teoma Systems. “The Best SAN of the year award by InfoWorld reinforces our decision to partner with Compellent,” stated Quarton.
