

Systems Integration Delivered with Commitment

Troy, MI. On December 12th, 2007, Teoma Systems was recognized by Ayman Antoun, Vice President, Business Partners IBM America for its contribution to helping IBM System x brand achieve its revenue objectives in 2007.

Michael Quarton Teoma Systems CEO received a special plaque from IBM which included the following proclamation “Your firm’s commitment to selling IBM System x ensures that our mutual customer’s receive the best products and support necessary to grow their business.”

IBM System x enterprise servers is the ideal platform for today's business-critical applications such as database processing, customer relationship management, and virtual server environments. With multiple workloads running on the same server, performance remains important but reliability and availability become more critical than ever. The IBM System x enterprise servers are built with advanced technical capabilities that give businesses superior throughput, exceptional reliability and the ideal platform for virtualization.

“We recognize IBM’s blade servers as the best in breed in the marketplace. Our relationship with IBM helps us to continue to meet the needs of our customers” states Quarton.
